Local communities say thanks to inspirational teachers

The 60 state and territory recipients of the 2017 ASG National Excellence in Teaching Awards (ASG NEiTA) have been announced, selected from 1450 community nominations.

Now in its 23rd year, ASG NEiTA gives parents, grandparents, school boards and councils, and committees of management the opportunity to formally thank and recognise outstanding and dedicated teachers. These teachers are passionate about driving a world class education system and encouraging students to reach their full potential.

ASG NEiTA Chief Executive Officer, John Velegrinis says these educators recognise that 'it takes a village to raise a child,' which is testament to their dedication and the impact they have on the lives of those they serve in local communities.

"In many respects, teaching is about giving, not only to children and students but to their families and the community networks around them. Some of the ASG NEiTA recipients come from very small towns and represent the heartbeat of these communities.

"These teachers have an enormous responsibility in shaping and guiding these young people, as well as supporting the educational aspirations families have for their children. Their teaching stretches beyond the core curriculum and standardised testing, and they also help children develop the social skills they need to develop into successful adults. Ensuring children have a well-rounded education is something our ASG NEiTA recipients are absolutely passionate about. This is welcomed by families as they want teachers to play a greater role in developing their children's life skills, which was one of the key findings in the latest ASG Parents Report Card."

The awards are classed into early childhood, primary and secondary categories.

ASG NEiTA chairman, Allen Blewitt says the awards highlight a long history of positive relationships being built between teachers and their communities.

"These teachers are also mentors and the influence they have on young people is remarkable as they learn to appreciate the value of lifelong learning as they navigate their life journeys. So, ASG NEiTA is one of the only channels where the community gets to express their sincere gratitude through nominating an inspirational teacher, educator, principal or centre director."

Queensland had 19 ASG NEiTA recipients, followed by 13 in Western Australia, 12 in New South Wales, four each in Victoria and South Australia, three each in Tasmania and the Northern Territory and two for Hobart.

ASG NEiTA will announce the national award recipients in March 2018. Professional development grants are available at the national award level, and one recipient gets the opportunity to go to Space Camp in Alabama alongside top teachers from each US state.
