How ASG's Education Costs Estimates were calculated

Assumptions:	These figures assume that a child will attend primary school at five years of age. It is also important to note that this is a general view of education in New Zealand, and may include other schooling types.
Source:	ASG conducted an online education costs survey among its members during September 2015. The surveys covered primary and secondary school. In all, ASG received more than 900 survey responses. The survey asked parents to estimate the costs associated with tuition fees and levies (including voluntary contributions), extracurricular activities, clothing, necessities such as books and stationery, travel expenses and computer costs (including internet) that they paid for their children in primary or secondary schooling at state, state integrated, and private schools. Estimates of expenditure, being based on a sample rather than a census, are subject to sampling error. As such there is a level of uncertainty about actual expenditure, which depends on the sample size and inherent variability of expenditure. In order to reduce this uncertainty, cost estimates for 2016 were derived using a combination of 2013 survey data, adjusted for inflation reported by Statistics New Zealand, and survey data from 2015. A survey was not conducted in 2016. Therefore the annual CPI change for the relevant categories reported by Statistics New Zealand has been applied to costs obtained last year to derive base costs for analysis this year.
Location:	ASG's Education Costs survey collected national data based on information supplied by its members.
Education Costs Data:	National education costs estimates are available from ASG's website—www.asg.co.nz. ASG encourages parents to estimate the future costs of their children's education using ASG's Education Costs Calculators —www.asg.co.nz/calculator. ASG provides the media with the estimated 2017 school costs and the total costs of schooling for a child born or beginning primary school in 2017. This information is available at: www.asg.co.nz/edcosts.

Indexation:	To provide these estimates, derived 2017 costs are increased at an average growth rate, based on the past 10 years of the relevant Consumer Price Index (CPI). Projecting future economic performance is not ASG's area of expertise and it makes no claims to this effect. Nevertheless, an allowance for inflation must be made in order to provide meaningful estimates of future education costs. The projected costs are all in current dollar terms, as this is the basis which most consumers understand. There has been no adjustment for the time value of money. Future price movements will be subject to factors such as the dollar exchange rate, government policy, and other factors which ASG makes no attempt to predict. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Primary education is projected to increase at an average annual rate of 4.70% over the next 20 years. • Secondary education is projected to increase at an average annual rate of 4.70% over the next 20 years. • Extracurricular activities are projected to increase at an average annual rate of 2.27% over the next 20 years. • Children's clothing and footwear costs have actually dropped over the past 10 years, and are projected to continue decreasing at an average annual rate of 0.15% over the next 20 years. • Necessities are indexed by the Newspapers, Books and Stationery CPI Sub-Index which is projected to increase at an average annual rate of 2.90% over the next 20 years. • Transport costs are projected to increase at an average annual rate of 0.25% over the next 20 years. • Computers and computer-related costs have actually dropped over the past 10 years, and are projected to continue decreasing at an average annual rate of 7.33% over the next 20 years, as technology improves and is more widely adopted according to the computing and telecommunications sub-index. • All education is projected to increase at an average annual rate of 3.45% over the next 20 years • The All Groups CPI index is projected to increase at an average annual rate of 1.84% over the next 20 years. This is consistent with the Reserve Bank of New Zealand's target of keeping inflation within the band 1% to 3% per year, on average.
Important note:	These figures are the average estimated costs and represent the highest amount parents and families could expect to pay. Figures have been rounded and are provided as a guide only. ASG cannot guarantee that they will represent the actual costs of education for a particular child.
